February 4, 1997 LB 106

SENATOR COORDSEN: Senator Hudkins.

SENATOR HUDKINS: Thank you, Mr. President, and members of the body. In the interest of time, we have struck a compromise. Senator Chambers is not totally happy. He wants to get rid of all designations. I am not totally happy because I wanted it to be into law, but I have decided to settle for the next best thing, which is the amendment that we have already adopted by Senator Kristensen. We're going to change that just a little bit. And that amendment said to "insert the following section" which would give the Governor the authority to make these designations. What the amendment says is that we will strike sections one and two which is the original bill. Now, the bill says that the Governor will have the authority to make these designations. So, my fourth graders at Valley will, hopefully, after I get a letter quickly drafted to the Governor, have the state fish and the state crop of their choice and we will not take the body's time on such an important bill as this. Thank you.

SENATOR COORDSEN: Senator Bromm, did you wish to speak to this amendment, please?

SENATOR BROMM: Thank you, Mr. President. Senator Chambers, would you yield to a question, please?

SENATOR CHAMBERS: With so little left. Yes, I will.

SENATOR BROMM: Senator Chambers, will you be supporting Senator Hudkins' request to the Governor to make these designations, or will you be objecting to those requests?

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Senator Bromm, she has my immortal soul, what more do you want? No, I will not go any farther than I have gone.

SENATOR BROMM: But you will not object to those designations I take it?

SENATOR CHAMBERS: No. Whenever the Executive chooses to do something that is within the Executive's prerogative, I might have a comment about it, but I would not talk to him or in any
